PRICE TWO CENTS

HENRY LUCAS WINS THE COUNTY PRIZE

Honor of Exhibiting Best Ten Ears of Corn Goes to Brownstown Township Farmer.

BIG CROWD AT SHOW TODAY

Medora Schools Win Cup for Best Agricultural and Domestic Science Display.

Henry Lucas & Son Win Cup.

Henry Lucas and son, of Brownstown township, were awarded the handsome silver trophy, the first prize in the County Corn Show. Mr. Lucas' name will be engraved on the cup. By winning the grand sweepstakes prize the successful contestants have the honor of growing the best corn in Jackson county this year. Leonard Kuehn took the cup for best single ear. Medora schools won the agriculture and domestic science exhibit.

The corn show in the Buhner Garage was visited today by a steady stream of visitors who were anxious to hear the announcement of the prizes. J. S. Helms, of Richmond, the judge, did not complete his work until this afternoon. The awards in some of the townships were announced during the morning and the ribbons were placed upon the winning entries.

Henry Lucas and son, of Brownstown township, won the silver cup which was offered by the Seymour National Bank as the first county prize. Mr. Lucas was justly proud of the honor that has come to him. County Agent Cobb presented it to him and he made a speech of acceptance.

In explaining how he cared for his field of corn which produced the winning ten ears of white Dent, Mr. Lucas modestly shared the honors with County Agent Cobb.

"I am confident," he said, "that the superior quality of corn I raised this year is due to the manner in which I cultivated the ground. I put an exceedingly lot of work on the field. I worked it and worked it and then worked it some more before I planted the seed. It was a joke in my neighborhood how I worked the ground and the neighbors seeing me out in the field would ask, 'Now what is coming next?'"

"It may be that the methods I adopted this year would not be productive of the best results in all years. Where I had the advantage this summer over other farmers was that they could not get into their corn to cultivate it on account of the wet weather. I couldn't either but I had cultivated the ground before I put in the seed. However, I believe that it always pays to cultivate the ground well."

"The winning corn was grown from Vogler's White Dent. I bought the seed two years ago and this year it was acclimated and did well."

"I am frank to admit that without the assistance of County Agent Cobb

HOW TO MAKE THE FARM PROFITABLE

This was Theme of Illustrated Lecture given by Prof. G. I. Christie, of Purdue University.

HELP IS THE BIG PROBLEM

Speakers Urges That Farm Life be Made Attractive to Boys—Contrast Pictures Shown.

Before an audience that packed the Majestic Theater, Prof. G. I. Christie, head of the extension department of Purdue University, Thursday night delivered a practical address which was arranged as a special feature in connection with the corn show here this week. His lecture or talk was illustrated with pictures of farm life which he has taken during his travels to various parts of the state on extension work. In a general way most of the illustrations showed the mark contrast of the old way and the new way of doing things on the farm.

Prof. Christie was introduced by A. D. Cobb, county agent, who spoke of the success of the corn show and complimented the farmers and merchants for their co-operation in making such a display possible. He referred to the excellent exhibits furnished by the Medora and Cortland schools and predicted a far more successful show next year. He said he had hoped to be able to announce the winners at the meeting but was unable to do so as J. S. Helms, of Richmond, the judge, had not yet completed scoring the entries.

Prof. Christie's address was announced as the relation of "The Farmer and Business Man," but the hour was taken up with an explanation of the pictures. However, before closing he said that if the farmer is successful in making his farm profitable the success of the merchant and business man is assured. He said he would like to hold a conference here in the near future with a number of people who are interested in farm and city life to talk over the things that are needed to bring about the improvements in this community that are desired.

A few interesting statistics were presented on the screen by the speaker but most of his lecture was devoted to explaining how the farm could be made more profitable. He dwelt at length on farm and household conveniences and said that if a man thought enough of his cattle to build concrete troughs and feeding places he ought to give enough attention to his home to provide some of the conveniences for his wife. Especial reference was made to the distance from the pump to the kitchen on many farms while gasoline engines are used to pump the water into the fields where it is needed to water the stock.

Prof. Christie spoke of the value of straw and manure as fertilizers and stated that many farmers allowed the elements needed by the soil to escape before the fertilizer was distributed on the ground.

He showed pictures of old, tumbled down sheds used as hen houses and compared them with model, well kept,

Yale University Sends Congratulations to H. S.

Two telegrams of congratulations were received by Superintendent T. A. Mott of the city schools yesterday afternoon from Yale University concerning the E. Blish Thompson Memorial Scholarship offered to the Seymour high school. The messages were read at the educational meeting held at the assembly room at which a number of patrons of the schools were present.

Dr. W. L. Bryan, president of Indiana University, made the principal address during the afternoon. The telegrams read as follows:

"New Haven, Conn., Dec. 2, 1915.
"T. A. Mott, Supt. Schools,
"Seymour, Ind.
"The Sheffield Scientific School sends greetings to the Officials and

Students of the Seymour High School. The E. Blish Thompson Scholarship will, we trust, serve as a bond of union between your school and this University, and we hope to see in the future many honor students here from Seymour High School.

"President Yale University."

TRIO OF ARRESTS FOLLOWS CALM IN POLICE CIRCLES

Three Are Jailed for Imbibing too Much Liquor—Two Draw Fines, Other Too Drunk for Trial.

Business at police headquarters, which has been rather dull of late, experienced a decided revival last night and this morning, when three men were jailed on the charge of intoxication. The trio was composed of John Johnson, of Scottsburg, who is becoming quite a familiar figure in local police circles, James Colsher, of Jeffersonville, who was evidently so glad to get away from Jeffersonville that he proceeded to celebrate, and John Hill, better known to his friends as "Quillback," a local product.

Colsher was arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint from a woman on West Second street, who telephoned the police that a drunk man had opened the door and walking in, took possession of a rocker and invited the rest of the boys to "come on in and make themselves at home." The lady lost no time in telephoning the police and he was soon in the hands of the officers. Before Mayor Ross this morning he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was given a fine of $5 and costs, which he paid.

Hill, who is known as a habitual drinker, imbibed too freely for once last night and was taken in. He was given $1 and costs, and as he could make no arrangements to pay or have it stayed, will be taken to Brownstown for an eleven day stay.

Johnson had not recovered sufficiently from his spree to be tried this morning. As he has been convicted once or twice before in the Mayor's court, he stands a good chance of getting a trip to Putnam county. He was to be arraigned as soon as he had sobered up sufficiently.

DR. NILES NAMED PRESIDENT OF MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Jackson County Physicians Meet and Elect Officers for Coming Year—Banquet Planned.

The regular monthly meeting of the Jackson County Medical Association was held Thursday afternoon at the library, when the following officers were named for the coming year: President, Dr. J. H. Niles; Vice President, Dr. C. A. Hunter; Secretary and Treasurer, Dr. L. B. Hill.

Dr. Niles read an interesting paper on "Bacillary Dysentery" and in the discussion which followed many helpful suggestions were brought out.

The society has had a prosperous year and every scheduled meeting has been held, with good attendance and good programs. The doctors derive much benefit in a professional way from these meetings, as well as the social features of the gathering.

Plans for the annual banquet and smoker, which will be held during the holidays, were also discussed. Dr. May of Crothersville, and Dr. Hunter of Reddington, were the out-of-town doctors present.

PENNSYLVANIA ENGINEER HURT WHEN ENGINES HIT

Collision Between B. & O. and Pennsylvania Trains at Crossing at North Vernon.

Engineer Dufenbach, running the engine on Pennsylvania passenger train No. 124, between Columbus and Madison, sustained a broken nose today when his engine and the locomotive pulling Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern passenger train No. 15, between Cincinnati and Louisville, crashed at the crossing at North Vernon. Four of five passengers were badly shaken up by the collision and while two or three received painful cuts and bruises none was seriously hurt. Both trains were delayed. The B. & O. locomotive was derailed. The B. & O. train was running as a double header. Wrecking crews from Indianapolis, Columbus and Seymour were called.

B. & O. Southwestern train No. 4 was delayed about one hour today as the result of a wreck near St. Louis when the engine plowed into a cut of cars. The engineer and fireman escaped injury by jumping.

CALLS TOLSTOY POET OF HUMANITY

Clarence Locke Miller, in Address on Great Russian, Says He Was "Voice of Russian People."

INTERESTING LYCEUM NUMBER

Sublime Career of Russian Poet and Peasant Traced in Forceful Address.

Tracing the life of Leo Tolstoy through the various stages of his remarkable career, calling him the voice of the Russian people, the true poet of humanity and a king of literature. Mr. Clarence Locke Miller, of the Redpath bureau, delivered a most instructive and inspiring address at the First Baptist church last evening in the second number of the lyceum course.

Mr. Miller followed the career of the great Russian from his careless early life, through his service in the Czar's armies, where at Sevastopol the young man received his first impressions of the awfulness of war, through his wild career at the university, on into his literary work in which he quickly rose to the highest pinnacle of success, his unsatisfied quest for the true meaning of life, the despair of success, the acceptance of the Orthodox church, the mockeries and idolatry that he found there, the continued search for the truth, his study and translation of the gospels, the triumph of Christianity, the beautiful and helpful life of the peasant where he became one of the world's truly great in the Christlike simplicity and helpfulness, of his later days, his wonderful work for Russia, and her dumb millions, and for all humanity and in his fearless exposition of truth—the true voice of Russia and the prophet of peace,—on down to the last hours of his life in the lonely little railroad station.

Mr. Miller's style of oratory is dramatic and forceful and he held the closest attention of his audience as he painted glowing word pictures of the sublime scenes in Tolstoy's career, and of many scenes from his works, including "Resurrection," "War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina." He took occasion to condemn the spirit of militarism that prevades the world, especially the European nations today. There never was a greater fallacy than the one which proclaims that the surest way of preserving peace is in getting ready for war," he declared. The French custom of instilling into the minds of the youth of their land the hatred of the Germans, and the ambitious military spirit of the German Kaiser who he said had become a greater menace to the peace and progress of Europe than the "Yellow Peril" of which he had always stood in terror; Franz Joseph, the tottering monarch of Austria, Huerta, the Mexican dictator, all came in for equal condemnation. "The test of greatness in any man comes in the supreme moment in his life, and is determined not by what the occasion brings to him, but by what he brings to the occasion," declared the speaker.

Mr. Miller's lecture was highly

PEACE CRUISE IS GIVEN HARD JOLT

Henry Ford's "Bouncer" Frightened Passengers by Telling Them About Accommodations.

REBUFF FOR DR. C. F. ASKED

Chief Lieutenant Louchner Hears Conversation and Gets Passengers Back.

By United Press
New York, December 3.—Henry Ford's bouncer nearly put the peace cruise out of joint today. He not only nearly eliminated Dr. Charles F. Asked, one of the expedition's brightest stars, from among the passengers, but he frightened numerous other prospective passengers so badly about the accommodations they are likely to receive that they were thinking of cancelling passage.

"I don't know what cabin you'll have," he informed one applicant, "but it does not matter anyway as you'll have to take what is given. You will merely be a guest and must not have fault even if you have to go steerage."

Dr. Asked went as far as the elevator after his rebuff at the bouncer's hands before Louis P. Louchner, Ford's chief lieutenant, having heard of the incident by chance, overtook him and dragged him back.

The Cruise management is confident all passports all be ready by the sailing hour, 2 p. m. tomorrow. If the state department is delaying matters the peace headquarters do not know it. 160 were accounted for at noon.

W. J. Bryan arrived at the Hotel Biltmore at 2:50 for his conference with Ford.

"No, I do not intend to sail tomorrow with Mr. Ford's party," he said. "I may join them later. Possibly I will have more to say about the peace ship after I meet Mr. Ford."

Periscopic Paragraphs.

Learning to Farm.

(Massachusetts has started a correspondence course in agriculture.)

It is oh! to rise ere the wintry skies grow red with approaching day, To wake the cows as they stand and drowse 'mid the frost-bespangled hay, There's a subtle charm to the dear old farm when it's covered with gleaming snow; There's a joyful thump to the frozen pump when the mercury's ten below, No throne for me, when at half past three I can sit on a milking stool In delightful bliss—I have learned all this at a correspondence school.

To comb the locks of the placid ox as he solemnly chews his cud, While the snowflakes fall on the stable wall with a dull and sickening thud; To scatter the chaff for the new-weaned calf, while the rooster crows aloof; By the light of a match or two to patch the leaks in the cowshed roof.

To teach the hen not to set again, to curry the shivering horse. You can learn to do—and you ought to, too—in a correspondence course.

Just sit by the light of a fire at night in a snug and sheltered nook, With your pen and ink and a nice hot drink and a farm instruction book, And comfortably learn to milk and churn and to shake the potatoes down, And to harrow and reap till you fall asleep and dream you have moved to town.

The course you will find improves your mind; it's utterly free from harm—

And, take it from me, it will always be the best way to learn to farm.

No Transferring for Her.

A little girl lived in the city and her father had decided to buy a piece of property just outside the corporation line and this would necessitate her going to the country school unless she was transferred to the city schools. The conversation was at the dinner table and the remark was made that the little girl would have to go to the country school. Her uncle said, "Yes, unless she is transferred." She remarked, "she would not be transferred." All were surprised to hear her make the remark but she insisted that she would not be transferred. Finally her uncle said, "Do you know what transfer means?" "Sure she did," she stated, "for didn't her uncle's friend give her some transfer pictures and show her how to put them on her blocks?"—Contributed.

FORMER CONSUL BELIEVES
GREECE WILL ESCAPE WAR

Col. James R. Weaver, of De Pauw Faculty, Issues Statement Concerning Situation.

By United Press.
Greencastle, Ind., Dec. 3.—Col. James Riley Weaver, former Consul-general to Vienna, who is now head of the department of political science of DePauw university, does not believe Greece will enter the European war but believes it will necessitate keen diplomacy to keep her out of it. Col. Weaver made the following statement today to the United Press.

"I do not believe that Greece will enter the present European war. Greece is now involved in a terrible dilemma, whether to carry out its treaty obligations with Serbia and court the antagonism of Germany and Turkey or abandon Serbia and take chances with the entente allies.

"King Constantine of Greece, brother in law of the kaiser, has tried to force a neutral attitude upon Greece although he has seen that England and France could not accept this. In order to gain time, England was permitted to land troops upon Greek territory. This was clearly a direct violation of the rules of international law and Austria and Germany offering serious and threatening objections to this act of treaty violation. This violation has also placed the issue upon Greece and her recent attitude has been one of "watchful" waiting." At the last moment, however, she has decided to accept the issue thus forced upon her by England-viz, Greece will comply with all demands made by Great Britain, except those which necessitate her immediate declaration of war against any country.

Although it will take some keen diplomacy for Greece to escape safely from such an entanglement with its plots and counter plots, I believe that Greece will avoid any actual participation in the present struggle.

The Berlin official statement failed to confirm the Greek report that Monastir has fallen.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF FARM CREDITS CLOSES

George F. Chapman Tells Delegates How Wheat Growers Profited by Co-operation.

By United Press.
Chicago, Ill., December 3.—The third annual session of the National conference of marketing and farm credits was history today.

With three addresses last night, the session ended. George F. Chapman, Winnipeg, Man., told the conference how, through co-operation, grain growers of western Canada had profited $1,600,000 in nine years.

The proper place to store grain is on the farm where it is raised, not in elevators, either privately or co-operatively owned, G. W. Lawrence, sec-

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Rev. T. E. Montgomery, of New York City, and brother of Judge O. H. Montgomery, of Seymour, will sail Saturday at 2 p. m., with the Henry Ford peace party for Europe, in the effort to bring the great war to a close.

Frank Linke, of Washington county, has been a frequent visitor at the corn show. He is interested in any movement that will benefit the farmer and thinks the show is one of the most profitable things that has been attempted in this county.

Ezra Whitecomb, one of the leading farmers in Hamilton township, attended the corn show today. He was greatly pleased with the exhibits and expects to see a Jackson County Show of more than state-wide importance in the near future.

The Southport high school basketball team, with a crowd of supporters and rooters, will arrive at six o'clock this evening for the game with the local high school quintet at the gym at 7:45 o'clock. Both teams are strong, and an exciting game is anticipated.

Thomas Owens, of Johnson county, one of the best known corn growers and judges in Indiana, was an interested visitor at the local corn show today. Mr. Owens held up first, last and all the time for Johnson county. "Your show may be as good as the first one we held," he said, "but it does not come up to the standard set by those now held in Johnson county." However, he declared that the quality of corn was good and complimented the Jackson county farmers on the good exhibit.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

PREPARED CHRISTMAS BOX.
Mrs. J. B. Shepard was hostess Thursday afternoon at her hospitable home on West Fourth street, to a number of Rebekahs who assembled to assist in tacking a couple of comforts to be placed in the Christmas box which the local lodge is preparing to send to the I. O. O. F. Home at Greensburg. It is the custom of this lodge annually to send a box of toys, canned fruits, jellies and numerous useful articles to the members of the Home, and judging by the activity of the members this year's box will be no exception to the custom.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent. Mrs. Frank Bretthauer delighted those present with a beautiful reading on Odd Fellowship in her pleasing manner. A dainty luncheon completed the afternoon's enjoyment. Those present were the Mesdames D. W. Wilson, O. D. Seelinger, Henry Bretthauer, George Meyer, Frank Bretthauer, Margaret Kindred, H. W. Greemann, Thomas Lester, Walter Johnston, David Baird, little Miss Mildred Bretthauer and Master Wilfred Greemann.

INDIANA STUDY CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Indiana Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Ida Miller on North Chestnut street on Thursday afternoon. The first paper was on the subject "Side Trips and Historical Associations in Virginia" by Mrs. Ethel Conner. The next paper, "Culture and Art," by Mrs. Edith Pfaffenberger, was a most interesting and instructive presentation of the work done by American artists and sculptors. The paper was illustrated by the use of many attractive prints and photographs.

The third paper, "The Moundbuilders in Ohio," by Mrs. Jeanette Gault, presented in a clear and interesting manner, the life of these primitive people.

W. R. C. ELECT OFFICERS.

At a regular meeting of the Women's Relief Corps Thursday afternoon the following officers were elected for the year 1916. At the installation in January a number of officers will be appointed.

President—Mrs. Mary J. England.
S. V.—Mrs. Martha Bartlett.
J. V.—Mrs. Stella Houchen.

QUEEN ESTHER CIRCLE.

The Queen Esther Circle of the First Methodist church, met with Miss Gertrude Siebenburgen on Thursday evening at her home on North Broadway. An interesting home missionary program was given. Miss Siebenburgen handed in her resignation as president of the circle, because of her intended departure for Cincinnati to study. After the program, a pleasant social hour was enjoyed, during which dainty refreshments were served.

ANNUAL TURKEY DINNER.

The annual turkey dinner was given for the members of the Ladies' Aid of the German Lutheran church, Thursday evening at the club rooms; was a delightful affair. Covers were laid for ninety-eight members and a course dinner was served. While the ladies were at the table, Mrs. Albert Kasting presided at the piano and rendered a musical program of for Cincinnati to study. After the

OLDEST RED MAN
INDORSES TANLAC

Remedy Filled Him With New Energy and Vigor After Many Years.

Louisville, Ky., December 3, 1915.—Among those to indorse Tanlac recently is Fred Meinecke, a retired hardware dealer, of 2522 West Jefferson street, this city, who found speedy relief from chronic stomach trouble by use of the premier preparation. Mr. Meinecke, who is sixty-eight years old and the oldest member of the Order of Red Men in Kentucky, said:

"I was suffering from stomach trouble for many years. Finally my condition became so serious that I was forced to retire from business. I was unable to retain even the lightest foods on my stomach, and had the most severe pains imaginable in my abdominal regions after eating. I suffered from headaches, nervousness, and dizziness, and found it difficult to sleep.

"After being advised by friends to try Tanlac, and seeing it advertised in the newspapers, I decided to try it. I was astonished at the result. After taking a few doses my appetite returned and I found that I could eat anything I craved with relish. The nervousness and dizziness disappeared and my sleep became restful and peaceful. I no longer suffer from pains in the abdomen and head.

"I can do as much work now as I ever could and feel as well as I did 20 years ago, before I became affected with stomach trouble."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, is sold in Seymour at H. H. Carter Drug Co.

ST. PAUL SOCIETY.

Yesterday afternoon the Ladies' Aid Society held its last meeting for the year and the reports of the various committees proved of great interest to all members. The society has fifty-five enrolled members and meets every two weeks in the Sunday School rooms. During last year the receipts were $529.55 and the expenditures $505.88.

Yesterday a Ladies Home Missionary Society was organized to work hand in hand with the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Congregational churches of Indiana. At an early date in the new year the ladies hope to have Mrs. H. L. White, president of the Indiana work as a guest and for instruction in the work.

For 1916 the following officers for the Aid Society were elected: Mrs. August Cordes, Jr., Pres.; Mrs. Anna Hoevener, Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Harry Findley, Treas., and Mrs. Edward Wolters, Sec'y. Five new members were enrolled and after the business session refreshments were served by the retiring officers, to whom a rising vote of thanks was extended for "work well done."

BUSINESS AND SOCIAL.

A meeting of the Sunday School teachers and members of the adult Bible class of the St. Paul church, was held Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Loertz, South Chestnut street. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the plans for advancing their school. It was decided to adopt the Pilgrim Series of graded lessons, which will be taken up the first of the year. During the social hour refreshments were served.

clean sheds which could be built at a small cost. "What we are trying to do," he said, "is to impress upon the farmer that whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well. If you decide that part of your ground is worth something to you as an orchard, look after the trees and see that they are profitable. Farming is a business, you must remember."

Reliable help on the farm is one of the big questions confronting the landowner today, he asserted. In well regulated factories the superintendent gives the order to the department manager and the work is carried out as he requires. It is difficult to get the right kind of help on the farm, he declared. "We must keep the boys on the farm. Interest them in what you are doing. Our agricultural departments in the schools are doing much towards this end. Until a recent date the schools were used exclusively for teaching reading, writing and arithmetic but now we are teaching practical things as well. The boys are taken into the fields and score hogs as they find them in the lot."

Prof. Christie's lecture was entirely along practical lines. He said he wanted to impress upon his audience which was composed largely of farmers and others interested in agriculture, that farming is a business. As such, he said, each department must be made to pay and if the orchard or any fields fail to bring in a profit the farmer must look elsewhere for his livelihood.

A free motion picture show was given before the lecture and the usual vaudeville performance was given. Before the show a band concert was given on the street.

Several Good Reasons Why The Country Store Sells For Less

1st—20 years' experience as a buyer of the very lines of merchandise I am now selling, consequently knowing how, when and where to buy.

2nd—Buying a large percent of my lines direct from factories and brokers.

3rd—Being a quantity buyer jobbers offer tempting prices to get our business.

4th—Our enormous outlet supplying general stores and huxters.

5th—Selling for cash no loss by bad accounts which every credit store must overcome.

6th—No expensive delivery system to maintain. Country people pay for this service in a store where deliveries are made and receive no benefits therefrom.

The Country Store—Almost 6 years ago said merchandise could be sold for less in Seymour on a strictly cash, no delivery system, and the number of stores now following in our footsteps easily proves that statement. This store is truly the laboring man's and farmer's friend, and we welcome all classes of business.

THE ROCKVILLE SPEECH.

Cowed by the patriotic outburst following the firing upon Sumter, treasonable sentiments were hushed. But before the first year of the war had elapsed "Peace Democrats" were raising their voices against the war and for compromise with the South. On August 3, 1861, Morton delivered a memorable address at Rockville, in answer to such expressions. He set forth that compromise meant surrender and the disruption of the Union and was not to be considered. He distinguished between proper freedom of speech and treason, promising to punish the latter with the utmost rigor. This ringing declaration is said to have been received with an applause that "fairly shook the trees." The Indianapolis Sentinel, which Morton had protected from violence excited by its treasonable utterances, declared: "A more devilish sentiment was never uttered by any despot."

Mrs. David Able, of Cortland, spent Thursday here with relatives.

CHAPTER XV.

Soapsuds.

"M R. MARTIN will see you, Miss Grayson," said Johnson, coming back, and she followed him upstairs with beating heart.

If there is any time in the day when a retired business man should be allowed to enjoy himself in his own mature and self chosen way, it is the hour between 5 and 6. This hour "between the dark and the daylight" was not the children's hour in Mr. Martin's house, for good and sufficient reasons, his only son having been cast off and there being no "grands" yet any way. Neither was it a 5 o'clock tea hour, for Mr. Martin never had tea any more since Mary Grayson had gone. He had had Johnson bring it in for her once in awhile in the old days, to feed her up, but not now. His new secretary was a goose, and he packed her off, and now he found some letters to open with his own hands today, which seemed to annoy him. Disgruntlement still swayed his paternal heart when he thought of Rodney. He was torn between love and irritation where that boy was concerned.

He turned to the papers for consolation and held one sheet up to scrutinize the headlines. As he did so he displayed to the empty room a full page advertisement of 13 Soap—the hand of Ambrose, in fact—which by some occult influence presently impelled him to turn the paper over and glance at the last page next. The blatant sprawling ad. caused him a pang of regret and disgust, and he flung it down. He took up another paper and had the same experience, then turned angrily to some letters, only to be rewarded by the sight of 13 Soap circulars fluttering to the floor when he opened the envelope—the hand of Ambrose again, in fact. Another "letter" and another—they had got a beastly way now of addressing them in refined female hands, on good stationery, so you'd think they were invitations—followed the first into the waste paper basket.

It was a relief when Johnson presently appeared and announced a caller, though a great surprise to hear the caller's name. Mary Grayson! Now, what was this sly puss after? he speculated as he bade Johnson show her in. Come to get her old job back, he supposed. Well, she could have it at her old salary. He said this last aloud to her as she came into the room looking very sweet, he must admit. The serious expression she wore was not at all unbecoming to her pretty face.

The room looked just as it used to do, and the recollection took Mary back again in spite of her engrossing errand. The diamond pendulum was still swinging on the mantelpiece. Mr. Martin himself wound all the clocks in the house every Sunday morning at exactly half past 9, when the hands did not interfere with the keyholes.

"But I don't want it," said Mary in response to his ungracious proposition. "Oh, then, Rodney has sent you to plead for him," suggested Mr. Martin.

"No, sir," said Mary. "He doesn't know I'm here."

"Then what are you here for?" he demanded, really curious.

"To make you a business proposition," said Mary stoutly.

"Why doesn't Rodney make it him-

Scientists discover the cause of bleeding gums and loose teeth

The old idea that bleeding gums and loose teeth (symptoms of pyorrhea) are due to little pieces of tartar or bone under the gums, has been exploded. Scientists have made the astounding discovery that this disease is caused by a germ which is found in every human mouth.

This germ is the most active and destructive enemy of your teeth. Are you protecting them against it? You can ward off its constant attack and escape the dread results of the disease by using the proper corrective and preventive treatment in your daily toilet.

To meet the need for this treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Senreco Tooth Paste.

Senreco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Senreco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Senreco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Senreco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Senreco Remedies Co., 506 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

self?" asked his father.

"He doesn't know what it is," explained Mary.

"That's something in his favor," Martin conceded. "I can't see much use in women tying up in men's business. Somehow I love the scallawag, and, — it, I miss him around here!"

He looked at Mary curiously as he said this, wondering how she and Rodney were getting along these days and what her errand really was, though he didn't propose to give away his interest in it. She had betrayed the true nature of things to him once. What was she going to do now?

His reflections and Mary's business were interrupted, however, by Johnson's entering a second time and announcing the last two people in the world that Mary had counted on, namely, Mr. Rodney Martin and Mr. Ambrose Peale.

"Oh, the whole firm, eh?" said Mr. Martin, eyeing Mary sharply.

Mary started guiltily. For a moment she feared that Rodney might hark back to that $5,000 check his father had given her and grow jealous again. She couldn't pretend to be pleased to see him, despite her sentimental reflections just now downstairs. She had wanted to handle this interview in her own way. She felt as if she could have done it right, convincingly, just as a hunter feels within himself that he can clear the hurdle that looms ahead. Now, here were Rodney and Ambrose to interfere with her, and Ambrose of course would interrupt and switch her off and perhaps irritate the old gentleman with his advertising talk. He couldn't help it. Ambrose would pop out of his jack in the box instantaneously if you sprang the subject of soap and advertising.

Old Mr. Martin surveyed all three of them grimly, just long enough to let embarrassment set in on all their faces. His eyes rested on Mary last of all, and longest. A fairly perceptible change crept round his firm old mouth as he did so. He was satisfied the little minx had told him the truth about Rodney's not knowing anything as to her mission here, and indeed, when the boy came in and saw her there, he exclaimed in genuine surprise:

"Why, Mary, what are you doing here?"

Mary thought fast a moment, and evidently decided that the best part of diplomacy this time was the truth.

"I came to tell your father about Brown & James," she said frankly.

Rodney looked relieved.

"That's why we're here too," he said. "Absolutely," added Peale.

"Well, what is it about Brown & James?" blustered Martin. "Let me tell you right now. I won't back any fake company."

"But we're not a fake any longer," protested Rodney.

"We've actually sold some soap," chimed in Peale.

"Fifty thousand cakes," Mary explained impressively.

"To Brown & James," said Rodney.

"Then why did you send 'em only five thousand cakes?" inquired old Martin bluntly.

Rodney looked astonished, but answered promptly:

"Because after we'd got that much from one of your branch factories you shut off our supply."

"And we couldn't get any more soap anywhere," said Peale plaintively.

"And you knew it very well," Mary said accusingly.

"We've still got 45,000 cakes to deliver if we can get 'em from you," went on Rodney. "Why let all that money get out of the family?" he pleaded.

"It's a business proposition."

"No, it isn't," said the father. "Don't fool yourself. I sent that telegram."

"What telegram?" asked Rodney.

"The telegram from Brown & James ordering the 50,000 cakes," grunted old Martin.

Mary plumped down on a chair in dismay.

"You sent it?" she gasped.

Mr. Martin decided to amplify a little.

HENRY LUCAS WINS THE COUNTY PRIZE

I would never have won the prize. I had the corn, but did not know how to select the show ears until he assisted me. We put sacks on our backs and trudged up and down the field selecting what he believe were the best ears. Then we sorted them all over and picked out twenty ears which are on display here. I am 'crazy' about growing seed corn, and this corn show is responsible for it. When I decided to enter it, I gave more attention to selecting show ears.

"I am going to enter the winning corn in the Columbus Show and also in the State Show."

County Agent Cobb said that Mr. Lucas' field of corn was unusually uniform and there were few ears that did not measure well up to the standard. Mr. Lucas stated that he intended to work to improve the quality.

Henry Kuehn, of Bronstown township, took the cup offered for the best single ear. His success is due to his careful selection of seed and the scientific manner in which he cultivated his corn.

The Medora School won the silver cup in the contest for the best exhibit of agricultural and domestic science work. Harry Henderson and Miss Inez Howards, of the Medora School had charge of the exhibit. Superintendent Thomas arranged so that special attention could be given to these departments and they have shown wonderful improvement and the interest of the boys and girls in them has been correspondingly increased. The exhibit is as good as can be found anywhere. G. I. Christie, who spoke here Thursday night, was surprised at the display and secured a picture of it to be shown in his series of lectures. Trustee Carr, of Carr township, the school management and the pupils deserve great praise for their efforts in this line. Many local people have seen the exhibit and have been interested in the displays. The silver cup which was offered by the Jackson County Loan & Trust Company for the best exhibit of this kind was presented to Medora. The name of the school is to be engraved on the side of the trophy.

Cortland school also deserved much credit for the showing made in its display. While it was not as large as the Medora exhibit, it covered a wide field and showed the high character of work that is done by the pupils there. Cortland was handicapped in this contest by the fact that Medora has an annual exhibit and has been collecting various displays all summer and was ready to make the exhibit here. The Cortland schools however show a fighting spirit that spells success and it is promised that the story will be different next year. In other words, the slogan is "Watch Cortland Win Next Year." Other schools are expecting to enter at the second contest.

Mr. Helms has been busy today answering questions of visitors. There is no doubt but that the corn show has been a great help to the progressive farmers who desire to profit by the experience of others and who want to improve the quality of their crops. There is some talk of having a bushel display next year along with the regular exhibits. Many farmers who failed to bring in entries are now regretting their negligence, as George McNiece said, "We were careless this year and it was our own fault, but you can bet we'll be right on hands next year."

The vaudeville performances each day since the show opened have been good and the crowd has been well pleased with the entertainment given them.

It is expected that Saturday will be a big day so far as attendance is concerned. The committee is arranging to care for hundreds of visitors, who waited until the prizes were awarded before coming.

WILLIE WESTINGHOUSE FINDS A NEW USE FOR A VACUUM CLEANER

DEAR TOMMY: Our minister's dog is so infested with fleas that I made a rubber attachment for the vacuum cleaner that just fitted over Hector's neck. We placed him in the bathtub. As the water rose, the fleas all gathered on his neck. Then I clapped the mouthpiece over them and tried to suck them off, but Hector was too restless. Yours, etc. WILLIE.

JINGLING JOHNSON'S LATEST JINGLES BRING HIM THE USUAL RESULTS

HOW WELL I DO REMEMBER
IN THE BLEAK MONTH OF NOVEMBER,
FROM THE CEILING FELL THE PLASTER—
GRANNY MET WITH GRAVE DISASTER.

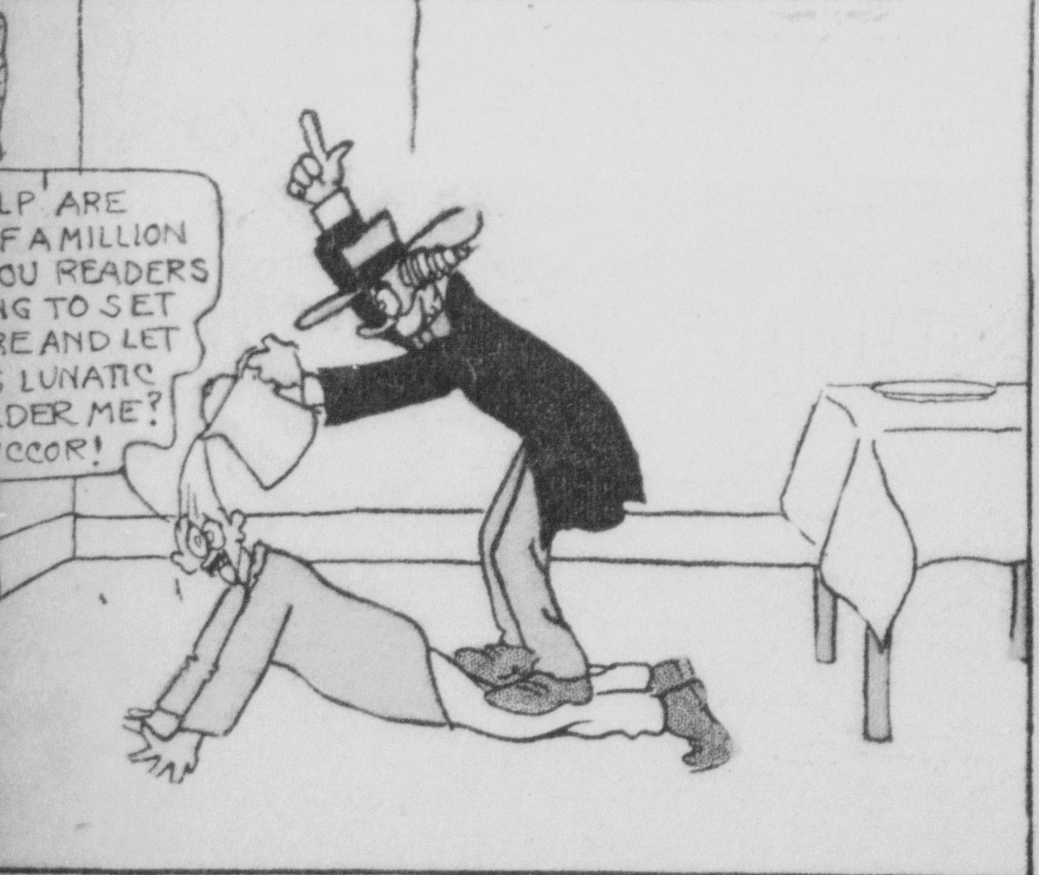

THEN DEAR WILLIAM STUBBED HIS TOE
"PICKLED SQUASH!" HE SHOUTED "OH!"
THEN A BEDSTEAD FELL DOWN STAIRS—
CRYING LOUDLY "POTTED PEARS!"

GREEN EYED MONKEYS JIBBER, JABBER
"STOP!" I CRY, THEY ANSWER, "NOPE!"
LISTEN TO THAT OYSTER CRYING—
"JINGLING JOHNSON'S SHAVING SOAP!"

A GYPSY'S IS THE LIFE FOR ME,
FOR ERE THE NIGHT SHADES THICKEN,
THE GYPSY CLIMBS UP IN A TREE
AND SWIPES A FARMER'S CHICKEN.

AH, GYPSY JOHN COULD COOK AN EEL,
OR ANYTHING THAT HE COULD STEAL,
FROM RUBBER BOOTS HE'D MAKE A MEAL,
AND WHEN IT RAINED HE'D NEVER SQUEAL.

SO HERE'S A TOAST TO GYPSY JOHN,
AND ALL THE GOOD THINGS HE LIVED ON
ALTHOUGH HE SMOKED A BRIAR PIPE
HE NEVER ATE A DISH OF TRIPE! NOSIR!

IS NITE OUT
